

Abdul Alsenafi

A Convection-Diffusion Model for Gang Territories

We present an agent-based model to simulate gang territorial development motivated by graffiti marking on a two-dimensional discrete lattice. Moreover, we study and analyse the dynamics and steady-state solutions of gang agents and their graffiti markings. For simplicity, we assume that there are only two rival gangs present, and they compete for territory.