

Takis Konstantopoulos

Compositions of empirical distribution functions and Bernstein operators

We present a stochastic approach, based on compositions of empirical distribution functions, to proving theorems regarding convergence and rates of convergence of iterates of Bernstein operators. This completes the classical theorem of Bernstein for polynomial approximations to continuous functions by relating it to the Wright-Fisher Markov chain and its corresponding diffusion limit.